The World Is Not A Rectangle: A Portrait of Architect Zaha Hadid

This lesson's book highlights the inspirational concepts of Zaha Hadid and her designs. Participants of this activity are encouraged to implement their inspirations and concepts throughout their building design from start to finish.

1. Follow the instructions on the back of the Lesson Card.
2. In addition, encourage participants to have a strong and established concept to design from.
3. After building is complete, participants shall take the time to sketch/draw their design with a drawn image of their inspiration on the same sheet of sketch paper for comparison.
4. Participants can share their work with the activity group and explain their design concepts.
